The Lodges

Only routine business was transacted at the meeting of the Daughters of Erin Friday afternoon in the Knights of Columbus hall. Arrangements were made for the social meeting to be held next week.

Are Your Nails Shabby? A shabby rug spoils the effect of a room. It doesn't matter how handsome your furniture may be. If you haven't a nice rug on the floor, the room will not look well furnished. We have received recently large shipments of rugs, and would like you to come and see the new patterns. In addition to large rugs, we have all kinds of small rugs.

El Paso Household Furnishing Co., Corner Stanton and Mills Streets.

An English Hat

From England comes the fashion of wearing the broad drooping hats with flowers and the lighter millinery materials. This hat, recently imported, is typical of the class.

A leghorn shape is used to start with and around the brim are three graduated circles of chiffon, cleverly cut to give a slight rippled effect. These are bound with white satin and slightly wired at the edge. A huge white satin bow and pink roses complete the trimming.

A regular weekly manure will keep your hands looking nice all the time. We do manicuring for both men and women. Elite Parlors, 218 Texas street.

Cards

Mr. and Mrs. Stafford Campbell entertained in honor of Mrs. Campbell's mother, Mrs. A. J. THE MAKING OF A PRETTY GIRL
How To Combat the Terrors of Sunburn and Freckles

By Margaret Hubbard Ayer.

Most of the pretty girls have been wearing those fetching turban hats this summer, or those nice little bonnets that shade one's forehead but never keep the sun off one's nose, and consequently the summer girl is beginning to worry about her tanned skin and very large assortment of freckles.

Added to these troubles there are various skin afflictions which generally arise from the extraordinary collection of things eaten to coax the appetite.

A girl will eat quite rationally all during the winter, but as soon as summer comes she must depart from her sensible menu and develop the most outlandish combinations, washed down with quantities of iced tea or iced coffee. One is as bad as the other.

Spicy greasy food in summer as you would the plague. Iced tea is a very strong stimulant, and iced coffee is completely indigestible, especially if taken with cream.

In winter if you have eaten not wisely but too well you may be able to cold the consequences, but in hot weather they are sure to show quite plainly in your face—in discoloring blotches and acne. If there is the slightest tendency to that trouble.

In the latter case, and indeed where there is any trouble with the skin, don't eat salt meat or pork in any form. Instead of drinking soda water by the quantity and then wondering why you have no appetite for supper, take lemonade. Avoid fish, too, and eat all the fresh vegetables that you can get.

A Good Ointment. For eruptions of the skin generally, especially when it is acutely, use zinc ointment, which can be had at any drug store. Five cents' worth will do to see if it agrees with you. Many of the skin foods and cream are good for this trouble. Sometimes it is necessary to soften the skin before applying them. Wash the face very carefully with a good bland soap and a clean cloth. Rinse it thoroughly and then apply cloths wrung out in very hot water. The water must be just as hot as you can stand. Lay these cloths over the face and let them stay on for 10 minutes at least, changing just as soon as the cloth gets cool. After the skin is thoroughly softened apply your cream and the result will be much more satisfactory than the ordinary application.

This treatment should be given at night. In the morning wipe off the remaining cream with a soft cloth. Where there are blackheads the complexion brush should be used, but do not use it where there are scales and pimples and sores. Wait until these have healed.

The best way to prevent sunburn is to cover the face with a light coat of cream before going out. Any good cream will do, but there are many which come especially for this purpose.

Five drops of glycerine to one ounce of rose water is the ordinary preparation called glycerine and rose water. You can use plain distilled water if you dislike the odor of buttermilk except for drinking, and warm milk is certainly much more pleasant to use.

A famous beauty, not an actress, always used milk to bathe her face in. She is inclined to freckle, and insisted that she would be a sight if it hadn't been for the milk treatment. I think she could have done the same amount of good at less expense by using soft water, rain water preferably, and a small bit of borax or a few drops of benzoin in the wash basin.

A good preventive for sunburn and freckles is found in quince seed. Take two drams of quince seeds, bruise them and boil them in a pint of water for 10 minutes, and then strain. When the jelly has cooled use it on face and hands before going in the sun. This cream is especially nice because it can be rubbed right into the skin and does not show.

All these suggestions are helpful for light freckles, but when it comes to the really deep kind one must try something much stronger. Peroxide of hydrogen will bleach freckles if the solution is strong enough. The trouble is that it usually isn't. One gets a small bottle that has been lying around the shop for ever so long and is so surprised when it has no effect. Friction will help you to banish freckles as it will always stimulate circulation.

To protect yourself from freckling and further use a solution of sperm salts and water. Make this as strong as you like. It will leave a light powder on the skin, which is perfectly harmless. Just touch the freckles; don't wet the rest of the skin as it is very strong and will sting and burn. If the skin is irritated after the application rub on a solution of oatmeal, which is easily made. Take four teaspoonfuls of fine oatmeal. Cover it with water and let it. Add more water as needed. When the oatmeal is quite done strain and let it cool. Now put in the juice of two lemons. Apply this to the face, patting it on. Now wet the hands in cold water and massage the face vigorously. Always use the upward and outward movements, and when using this oatmeal lotion pat the face very vigorously. Puff out the cheeks, slap yourself just as quickly and as lightly as you can. Use a quick little tapping movement over the forehead, one finger at a time, using the index, middle and fourth fingers in succession. After you are through wash off the remaining oatmeal, or, if you like, let it remain on all night.

To refresh the skin on a warm day get a dish or basin, fill it with cold water in which there are a few pieces of ice. Add several drops of camphor. Bathe the face in this until your temperature is lowered. Better still, if you can apply cracked ice in a folded bandage under the chin and at the sides of the face.

Church Affairs

Instead of their regular weekly business and program meeting the Aid and Missionary society of Calvary-Houston Square Baptist church will give a reception to all the members of the church Tuesday night on the lawn of the Houston Square chapel. The committee appointed to have charge of the affair follow: Program, Mrs. L. W. Smith and Mrs. J. E. Frankenberg; refreshments, Mrs. F. A. Hodges and Mrs. T. F. Kimbrell; arrangements, Mrs. J. L. Crowder, Mrs. J. E. Boock, Mrs. T. W. Grace and Mrs. J. W. Webb; outside lawn arrangements, Mrs. C. H. Campbell and Mrs. Frank Scott.

The Highland Park Missionary society of Westminster Presbyterian church held a meeting Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. R. L. Robinson, in Highland Park. "Signs of the Times," was the subject under discussion and a number of papers on its different phases were read by the members. Following the program, light refreshments were served and a social hour enjoyed.

The Aid society of Westminster Presbyterian church gave a very successful watermelon social Friday night on the lawn of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Reed's home, 505 East Rio Grande street. Strings of Japanese lanterns about the porch and trees made effective decorations. Mrs. J. H. Grant and Mrs. J. L. Broyles were in charge of the affair with Bradford Hardie, Jr., Ernest Michael and Miss Mary Hardie assisting in serving. The social was well attended.

The Junior Philatelia class of Calvary-Houston Square Baptist church entertained the Junior Bazaar class with a moonlight picnic on the mesa Friday night. The young people were chaperoned by Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Newman. After playing all sorts of games, a picnic supper was spread and was much enjoyed. The party were: Misses Mary Evans, Bessie Burgess, Mabel Reed, Eva Rhodes, Ruby Trothau and Mrs. C. M. Newman; Mrs. John Reed, Bartow Morris, John Butler, Roy Sykes, Edwin Shaw and Walter Thayer.

The new Protestant church has been completed at Yaleta and the first service will be held Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock with Rev. H. T. Bond conducting the service.

Picnics

Mrs. Emma Hill, of 911 Magoffin avenue, entertained yesterday at a picnic at Washington park in honor of her sister, Mrs. George Mac-ter, and daughter Martha, of Indianapolis, Ind. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. O'Neal, of St. Louis, Mo.; Mrs. Bessie Gurney and son Frank, Jr., of Saragosa, N. M.; Miss Gladys Stinson, of El Paso, and J. H. Ebert, of Los Angeles. The tables were spread at 12 o'clock and a splendid dinner was served. The afternoon was spent having a jolly time at different sports.

around the grounds till 6 p. m. when supper was served, after which all departed for their homes.

Miss Dee Ellis gave a hunting party for her guest, Miss Katherine Draper, of Nashville, Tenn. The party motored out to Anthony, N. M., where after a few hours' hunting a picnic supper was enjoyed. There were two machines full of guests. Miss Draper will return to her home in Tennessee the early part of August.

Dinners and Luncheons

Mr. and Mrs. T. N. Souter are giving a dinner tonight at their apartments at 531 West Missouri street in honor of her cousin, Miss Clyde Battell Reeves, of Fort Worth, Tex., who is the guest of Mrs. A. N. Pillsbury. The guests are Mrs. R. E. Hoard, Miss Lucy Hoard, Miss C. R. Reeves, A. L. Hoard and Conrad Hudspeh.

Mrs. A. N. Pillsbury entertained with an informal dinner party Friday night at her home, 527 West Missouri street, complimentary to Miss Clyde Battell Reeves, of Fort Worth, who is her guest.

NOT IN THIS VALLEY

The cantaloupe arouses hope. As through the store we roam. It looks its best, so we invest. And gladly take it home.

We call the wife to get a knife. Sufficient for our needs. But only find a lot of rind. And 40,000 seeds.

The cantaloupe arouses hope. Until we lay it wide. We choose and pick, but always kick. On what we find inside. —Kansas City Journal.

To Overcome Sunburn, Tan, Freckles, Wrinkles

(From Outdoor Life.)

If you are freckled, tanned or sunburnt, dab a liberal amount of mero-cized wax on the face and allow it to remain over night. When you wash off the wax in the morning, fine, flakey, almost invisible particles of cuticle come with it. Repeating this daily, the entire outer skin is absorbed, but so gradually, there's not the slightest hurt or inconvenience. Even the stubbornest freckles yield to this treatment. The underlying skin which forms the new complexion is so fresh and youthful-looking you'll marvel at the transformation. It's the only thing I know to actually discard an aged, faded, muddy or blotchy complexion. It is also good for arms, hands and neck. One ounce of mero-cized wax, procurable at any drug store, is sufficient in most cases.

If sun and wind make you squint and frown, you're bound to cultivate wrinkles and crow's feet. To overcome these, bathe the face in a solution made by dissolving an ounce of powdered salolite in a half pint witch hazel.—Adv.
